POSSE IN SEARCH OF MOONSHINERS

Men Supposed to Have Attempted Murder of Two Prominent Farmers.

ONE IN SERIOUS CONDITION

Attack Follows Report of Operations to Federal Authorities.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]

Danville, Va., July 21.—Since an early hour this morning a posse of police and citizens has been scouring the Mount Carmel neighborhood for two unknown moonshiners, who are supposed to have attempted the murder of two prominent farmers of that neighborhood named J. C. Bass and German Pace. Up to a late hour tonight the posse has been unable to locate the two men, and it is generally thought that they have made their way over the North Carolina border.

On Saturday morning it is said that Walter Bass, a brother of the injured man, discovered a large still on the plantation of J. L. Neal and reported the matter to the Federal authorities in Danville. J. M. Tucker, with two other officers, went to the place in the afternoon, seized and destroyed seven fermenters, which had evidently been left by the moonshiners during their hurried departure. The officers were unable to find the operators of the still, and left.

Late on Saturday night, J. C. Bass and German Pace, who was spending the night with him, were awakened from their sleep by voices calling them. They arose and went to the bedroom window, which is on the second floor, and as they opened it shots rang out, and both fell to the floor, each man having been struck in the right eye. People nearby heard the reports and hurried to the house and found the two men lying on the floor. There were no signs of the would-be assassins. The injured men's wounds were hurriedly dressed, and they were placed upon the early morning train and brought to the Danville Hospital.

Bass was found to be in the most serious state, his right eye being blown out, while Pace's eye is seriously affected. The latter, however, was able to leave the hospital today, and he returned to his home.

It seems that both the men were shot by mistake. The blockader, hearing that Walter Bass had informed the officers, went to the home of J. C. Bass and shot him and his son-in-law in place of the man they really sought.

PRESIDENT TAFT TO MEET WILSON

Washington, July 21.—Governor Wilson, of New Jersey, and President Taft, opposing candidates in the coming campaign for President, are expected to meet at the American Road Congress at Atlantic City between September 20 and October 5. The candidates have both consented to address the American Road Congress, and while the address of the two men will be non-political, there is great interest in the matter of their appearance.

Both the President and Governor Wilson agreed to address the congress before they were nominated by their respective parties. Of all the candidates who were in the Republican and Democratic fields before the convention, the American Road Congress marks the combination of the conventions of the American Association for Highway Improvement, the American Automobile Association and the National Association of Road Machinery and Material Manufacturers. It will be the first time that every faction engaged in the road movement has combined in one general congress. More than a half-hundred state, county and local associations which are affiliated with the American Association for Highway Improvement will be represented at the congress, and automobile tours to Atlantic City from all sections of the country are being arranged by the American Automobile Association. Eighty thousand square feet of space have been set aside for exhibits.

Executive Departments Added When Country's Necessities Require Them.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]

Washington, July 21.—Persons who have been figuring out the make-up of the next Cabinet, whether Taft, Roosevelt or Woodrow Wilson, will be elected President this fall, have found a hint of interesting information relative to the establishment of the different Cabinet offices. There is always much interesting matter surrounding the selection of the members of the President's official family, and it is not expected that there will be any deviation whether the next members shall be Democrats or Republicans.

The State Department was the first executive department created, and was established under the title of the Department of Foreign Affairs by act of July 22, 1789. The title of the Department was changed to Department of State by act of September 15, 1789. The Department of War was created by act of August 3, 1789. The Department of the Treasury was created by act of September 2, 1789. The salary of the Attorney-General of the United States was provided for in the act of September 2, 1789, and the office of Attorney-General was created the same year.

The temporary Postmaster-General was provided for by the act of September 2, 1789, and the office of Postmaster-General was established by the act of May 3, 1794. A general post-office was established at the seat of government, but the law did not refer to him until the act of June 8, 1792, establishing an executive department to be known as the Post-Office Department. The Navy Department was created in 1795.

The six departments above referred to were all established practically at the same time. The Department of the Interior was established in 1849, and was first known as a "Home Department." It was to have charge of those internal affairs which were not under the jurisdiction of the President's Cabinet. The Department of Agriculture, now established in 1849, and was first known as a "Home Department." It was to have charge of those internal affairs which were not under the jurisdiction of the President's Cabinet.
